

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation.

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. Programs like "Stolen Honor", do not serve the public interest.

I recently watched a one hour documentary on John Kerry and then directly afterwards the station had a one hour documentary on George Bush. This is fair, but what Sinclair is doing is downright illegal.

Please do something about this now. Thank you...Eileen Clark-Hahn....for a free and democratic life.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard. Thank you.
